

About the network and opportunities for collaboration

Who are we?

Cap-Net is a partnership of training institutions, knowledge centres and water managers around the world

We seek effective capacity building for sustainable management of water

Our Partners

A programme of

With core funding from

Partner of

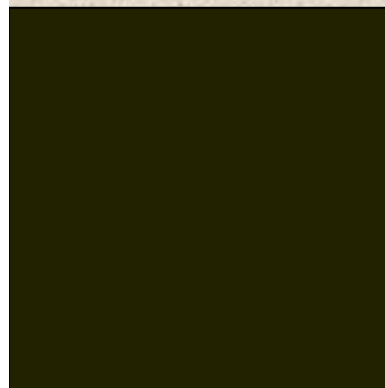

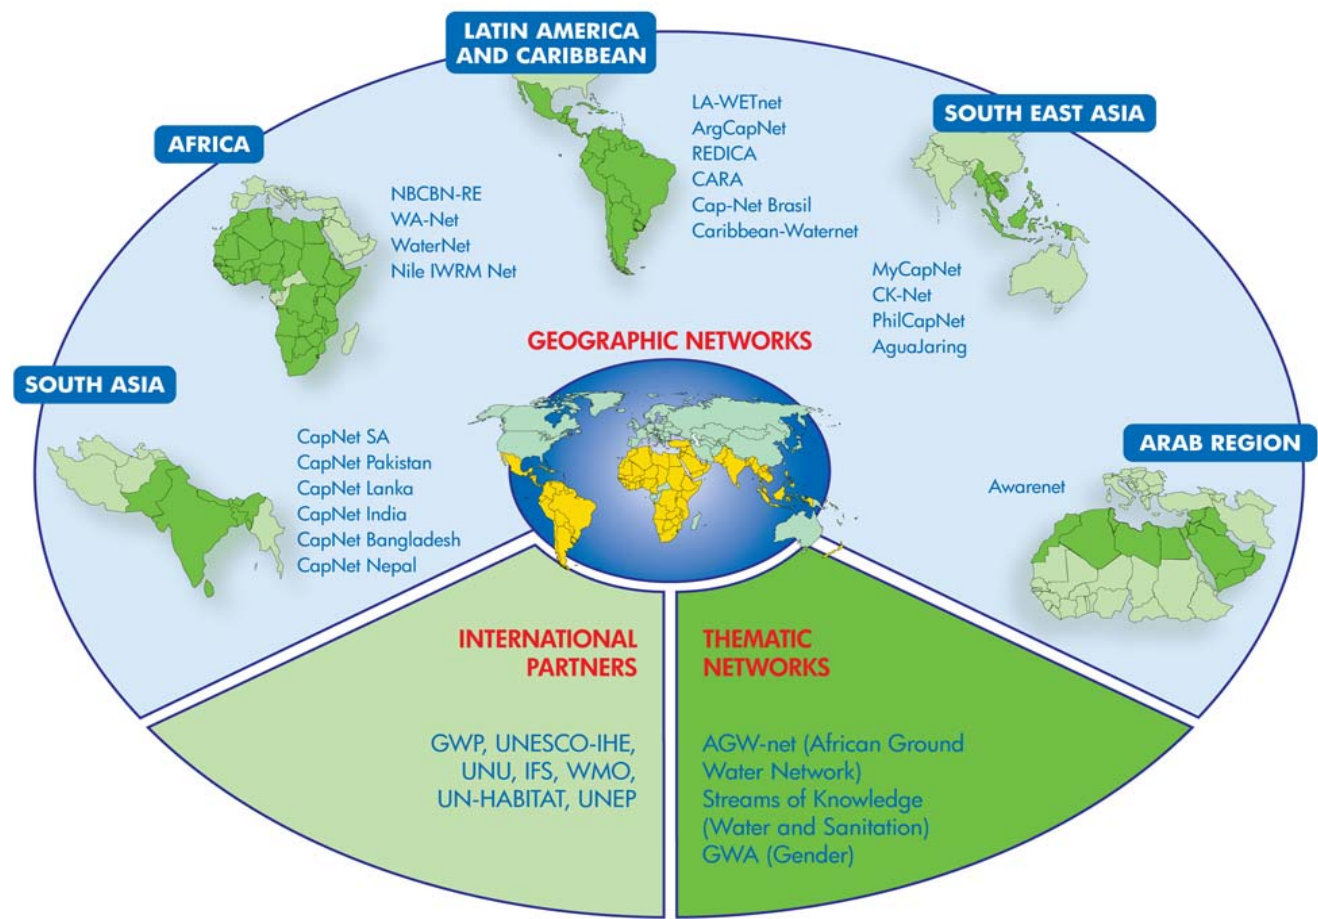

Hosted by

Global partners, and regional and country networks make up the Cap-Net network

The Global Network

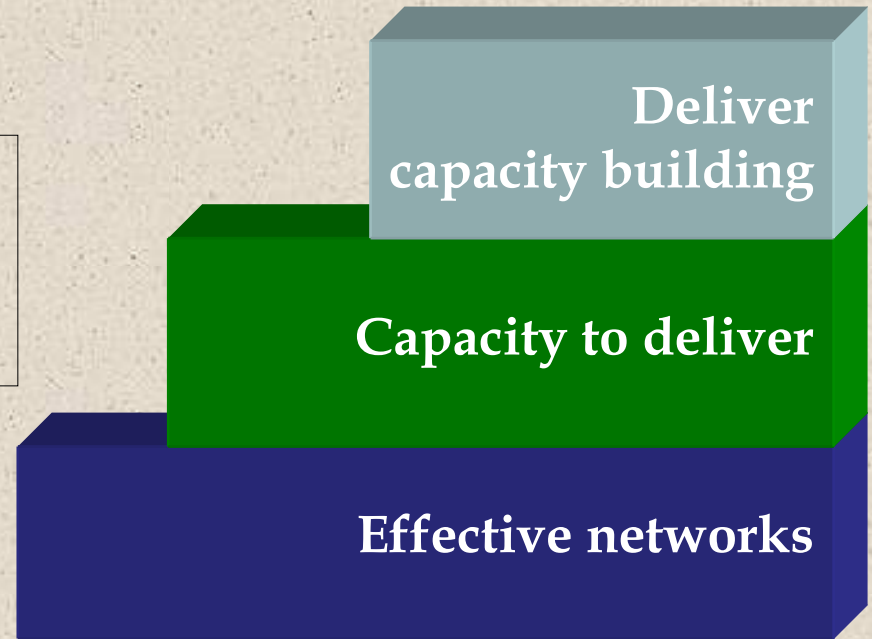

Project strategy

- ✓ Local ownership
- ✓ Partnerships
- ✓ Responding to demand

Building blocks for capacity building

The power of networks

Made up of 23 geographic and 4 thematic capacity building networks, Cap-Net helps:

International development organizations and research institutes to increase their relevance, outreach and impact on the ground, incorporate local knowledge

Local, national and regional organizations to improve performance and relevance, share tools and knowledge, access resources and better coordinate activities

Donors and multilateral agencies to scale-up impacts and get the most from their capacity building investment, synergy.

Result areas

Networks in place
▪Regional and country capacity building networks
▪Global Network

Competent trainers

Knowledge management
•Training materials
•Monitoring
•Communication
•Research, case studies

Capacity developed
•IWRM
•WSS

Some results

International ToT courses have been designed and held:

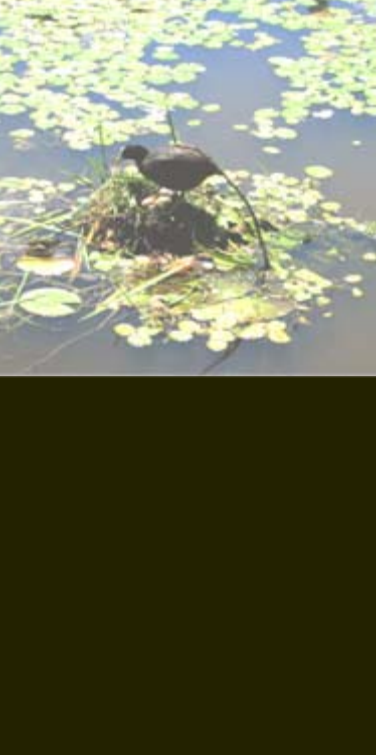

- IWRM principles
- Legal and regulatory frameworks for IWRM
- Gender mainstreaming in water management
- IWRM plans development
- Negotiation skills and conflict resolution
- Roles and functions of RBOs
- Economic and Financial Instruments in IWRM
- IWRM as a tool for adaptation to climate change
- Groundwater management
- IWRM and WASH

- In 2009, >65 training programmes reached >2300 participants in 74 countries
- Such events have trained educators, students, water managers, researchers and decision makers

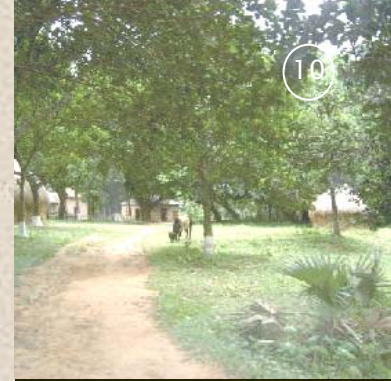

Collaboration

- ✓ We are an open and inclusive network
- ✓ Bringing knowledge and experiences from countries and regions together
- ✓ Collaborating in the compilation of knowledge and capacity development in new and challenging areas

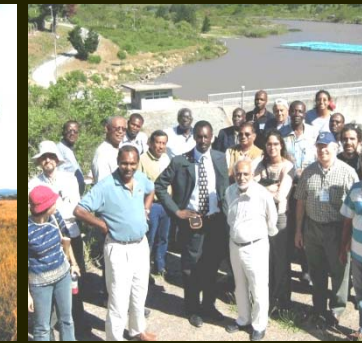

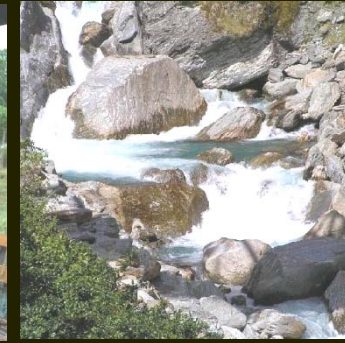

Invitation

- ✓ Join the Cap-Net network in direct partnerships, or through affiliated regional and country capacity building networks

Thank you

www.cap-net.org